So many visitors to our gallery describe themselves as “creatively challenged”. Studies show that we’re all born with the capacity to be creative. Early life experiences influence how this is directed. Our classes are designed to bring you back to that stage: the high dive into the arts and the joy of creating. Our classes require no experience or special abilities. They are just as suitable for accomplished artists who want to try something different and fun. I’m looking forward to helping you color outside the lines and pick up where you left off those years ago. And to help nurture that creative spark, we plan an array for classes—both fun and enjoyable for our community’s kids of all ages.
